

Invitation to the Book Launch followed by discussion

← NEXT LEFT →

European Social Democracy ahead of the 2024 EP elections: The promise of freedom and democracy

Book Launch of the newest „Next Left“ publications
Exclusively for the participants and alumni of the “Europapolitische Akademie”

Date

Friday, 10 March 2023, 12:00–13:15

Venue

Karl-Renner-Institut, Karl-Popper-Strasse 8, 1100 Vienna

Discussants

Andreas Schieder, Member of the European Parliament; Head of the “Next Left” research programme

Felix Butzlaff, Postdoctoral Fellow at the Department of Public Policy of the Central European University, Vienna; Member of the „Next Left Focus Group“

Moderator

Maria Maltschnig, Director of the Karl-Renner-Institut

Content

Within the framework of the "Next Left" project, the Foundation for European Progressive Studies (FEPS) and the Karl-Renner-Institut have been working together for many years on political ideas and visions for a social democratic European policy. The core of the project is the so-called "Next Left Focus Group", which consists of about 20 top-class academics from all over Europe who work on different policy fields from their respective academic perspectives and write articles on them. The topics are democracy, political parties, economic policy, climate policy, the social pillar of the EU and much more.

At the end of January, the latest publications of Next Left (Volume 12 and Volume 13), which deal with social democratic perspectives after the corona pandemic, were presented in Lisbon.

Registration

Sylvia Rauscher, rauscher@renner-institut.at

Refreshments and snacks will be served after the event.

This initiative has been financially supported by the European Parliament

European Parliament