The G20 can give a very important impulse to shaping the conclusions of the Summit of the Future (SOTF) and to implementing the Pact for the Future. The purpose of this side event is to present the policy recommendations of the T20 Brazil to the G20 leaders notably about:

- SDGs implementation with a special focus on decreasing poverty and inequalities as well as tackling climate change with strong financial means;
- Reforming global governance and the international financial architecture to address the debt problems and the need for a larger-scale investment.

The T20 policy recommendations are based on extensive consultations within its six thematic Task Forces that involved 18 think tank representatives and were also informed by more than 350 policy briefs by experts worldwide. Suggestions came also from the T20 international advisory council, including the Foundation of European Progressive Studies, from the European Union, which calls for a New Global Deal to rebalance the world.

The side event will bring together speakers from the diversified composition of the T20/G20. The G20 is composed of countries from all continents and represents 85 percent of global GDP. Its Presidency is Brazil (2024), was India (2023) and will be South Africa (2025).
