

Cherishing All Equally 2020:

inequality and the care economy

14th October 2020

10:30-12:40 Dublin time, 11:30-13:40 Brussels time

This online event marks the launch of the FEPS-TASC report "Cherishing All Equally - Inequality and the Care Economy" which analyses how care workers are faced with multiple inequalities offering an EU-wide comparison whilst taking a closer look to the Irish case. The distribution of care plays a central role in the formation of inequality between women and men. The structure of care provision or the distribution of caring responsibilities is perhaps the largest single factor in the continuation of gender inequalities. As Europe emerges from the COVID-19 crisis, a long-overdue conversation needs to be had about the value we place on care work, which is disproportionately shouldered by women. The report will be published the same day of the event.
